Reporter to Lecture on Drug Traffic at Gerontology Center

Investigative reporter Penny Lernoux will deliver the 1984 Theodore Kruglak Lecture today at 7 p.m. in Davis Auditorium of USC's Andrus Gerontology Center.

She will discuss alleged connections among organized crime, the CIA, South American drug traffic and some of our leading financial institutions in the free public lecture sponsored by the USC School of Journalism.

An alumna of the USC School of Journalism, Lernoux is author of "In Banks We Trust." Information about the lecture is available at 743-2391.
